

Nona Jones leads Global Faith-Based Partnerships for Facebook, the world's leading social media company with more than 2 billion users. In her role, she works with Pastors and Church Leaders around the world to help them launch and lead an online church campus through the Facebook platform while also helping develop and drive Facebook's product strategy to best serve their needs. She was licensed into the gospel ministry at the age of 17 in Jacksonville, Florida and has preached around the country over her 18 years of ministry.

Prior to Facebook, Nona served as Chief External Affairs Officer for PACE Center for Girls, the Florida-based, statewide network of 19 Centers where she led Federal and State Legislative Advocacy, Program Expansion, Resource Development and Brand Strategy. Immediately prior to PACE, Nona served as Public Affairs Director for Gainesville Regional Utilities where she received the American Public Power Association's Robert F. Roundtree Rising Star Award as national peer recognition of her leadership while under the age of 35.

Nona is currently President of the Gainesville (FL) Chapter of The Links, Incorporated and serves on the University of Florida Digital Advisory Council. She most recently served as Secretary of the Florida Juvenile Justice Association Board of Directors and on the Georgia Statewide Human Trafficking Task Force. She is a graduate of Leadership Florida and the Presidential Leadership Scholars Program, a unique leadership development initiative led by President Bill Clinton and President George W. Bush.

Nona has been profiled by ESSENCE Magazine as an "Under 40 Woman to Watch" and Florida Trend Magazine as one of Florida's "30-Something All Stars." A sought-after public-speaker, she has delivered keynote addresses for the United Nations and Attorney General Loretta Lynch. She holds a Bachelor in Communications and Master of Business Administration from the University of Florida where she has been recognized as an Outstanding Young Alumnus. She is also a member of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Incorporated.

In addition to Nona's professional and civic work, she and her husband, Pastor Timothy L. Jones, Sr., lead Open Door Ministries in Gainesville, Florida. She is an accomplished vocalist, songwriter, worship leader and musician who wrote, composed and co-produced her Billboard-Charting Gospel Album, "Take Me," and she has also published three books. An avid runner and fitness enthusiast, she recently ran her 13th half-marathon in Paris, France. She is the proud mother of Timothy, Jr. (8), Isaac (5), and Goldendoodle Shiloh.
