

Dr. Edwina Hamilton Bell, am dedicated and passionate about what I do as a Clinical Psychologist. I enjoy helping individuals maintain a balanced life and to work towards reaching their fullest potential. I am effective at utilizing the therapeutic relationship to identify individual strengths and to promote positive emotional and psychological change. I provide individual therapy for adults and specialize in conducting comprehensive assessments to identify both children and adults with Attention-Deficit/Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD) and Learning Disabilities.

I have extensive experience conducting psycho-educational evaluations for the School Board of Broward County, students attending private educational institutions, and those in college. In addition, I work collaboratively with Pediatricians in conducting comprehensive assessments to help identify children with ADHD and Learning Disabilities in order to promote their academic success.

In addition, I am committed to improving the psychological well-being of the community by collaborating with community leaders and organizations in transforming lives through prevention, education, and empowerment individually.
